EMIGRATION TO THE RED RIVER AND TRINITY COLONY, TEXAS.
THE parties to the contract made by the Government of Texas, under the special acts and authority of Congress, passed February 4th, 1841, and January 16th, 1842, with Peters and others, for the purpose of Colonizing a portion of the vacant and unappropriated lands of the Republic, having formed themselves into an association called "The Texas Emigration and Land Company," appointed the undersigned as trustees, and vested in them full power and authority to carry out and fulfill the objects and intentions of the parties thereto. We would, therefore, respectfully give notice to those who may wish to avail themselves of the liberal terms and conditions now offered by the Company, to settlers in their Colony, that we now have at the settlement, at the forks of the Trinity River, a permanent resident Agent, Mr.
Charles S. Hensley, an intelligent and competent gentleman, who will at all times be prepared to receive all who locate to their satisfaction, without delay, all who may go there to settle.
To all emigrants who shall go on to the grant and settle in the Colony, on or before the 1st day of July, 1846, the Company will give to each and every family 200 acres of land, and to each and every single man over the age of seventeen years 100 acres of land, to be selected by themselves, upon paying to our agent, for the cost of the survey of the lands upon which they shall settle, at the rate of $16 for each family, and $8 for each single man, and the actual expense of the deeds and the record thereof, and if the parties are without money, a note will be taken, bearing interest at 6 per cent, until paid, and the lands will be located to them.
By a family is to be understood a man and his wife, with or without children, a widow or widower, with two or more children under the age of seventeen years, or two men over the age of seventeen years, or one man over the age of seventeen years, shall each be entitled to 100 acres of land in their own right, beside the 200 acres given to the family of which they are members.
Our agent, Mr. Hensley, uses the following language: "The prairies, these gardens of the world, for which the speech of England has no name, beautifully interspersed with groves of timber, and still more beautifully adorned with flowers of every color, and every shade of color, surpassing the skill of the painter and the imagination of the poet, would make a person almost believe, were it not for the absence of the House, that he was transported into Mahomet's Paradise."
All communications, post paid, addressed to the undersigned, trustees, at Louisville, Ky., or to either of them, on business of the Company, shall meet with prompt attention.

KENTUCKY LEGISLATURE.

IN SENATE.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 8, 1846.

ROBERT A. PATTERSON, Senator from the 11th District, took his seat.
Prayer by the Rev. Mr. HUNTER.
The Clerk read the Journal of yesterday.

REPORTS FROM STANDING COMMITTEES.

Mr. HARDIN, from the committee on the Judiciary, a resolution that the Senate advise and consent to the following nominations:

John B. Thompson, to be Commonwealth's Attorney for the 12th Judicial District, in place of Joshua F. Bell, resigned.

Miles C. Folkes, to be Commissioner of Deeds for this State at Vicksburg, Mississippi.

John Bivens, to be Commissioner of Deeds at Philadelphia, Pa.

James B. Latimer, to be Commissioner of Deeds at Baltimore, Md.

George Woodman, to be Commissioner of Deeds at New York, N. Y.

John M. Moore, to be Commissioner of Deeds at Madison, Ia.

Bushrod W. Foley, to be Mayor of the City of Covington.

Edmund H. Taylor, to be Commissioner of the Sinking Fund, in place of Joshua B. Bowles, resigned.

George B. Adams and John T. Cox, to be Commissioners of Green and Barren River Navigation.

John W. Crow, to be Notary Public in Ohio county.

Matthew Bridges, to be Notary Public in Jefferson county.

Moses Cawood, to be Sheriff of Harlan county, in place of Elijah Green, refused.

Thomas Hagins, to be Sheriff of Breathitt, in place of James Cope, time expired.

Ed. D. Stockton, to be Sheriff of Estill, in place of Sampson Walters, resigned.

Joseph Lumpkins, to be Sheriff of Morgan, in place of Jesse Cassidy, time expired.

Jeremiah Dickerson, to be Sheriff of Jessamine, in place of Harrison Daniel, time expired.

William L. Stone, to be Police Judge of the Town of Henderson, in place of Thos. Towles, resigned.

And the question being taken thereon, the resolution was adopted. So the nominations were confirmed.

Mr. HARDIN, from the same committee: a bill to change the venue in the case of Robert Simmons, indicted for arson, from the Allen to the Monroe Circuit Court: passed.

Also, a H. R. bill to incorporate the town of Mayfield, with an amendment: concurred and passed.

Mr. A. BOYD, from the committee on Enrollments, reported sundry bills, which were signed by the Speaker.

Mr. HARDIN, from the committee on the Judiciary, a H. R. bill for the benefit of Moses McMillan: authorizes him to bring a slave from Tennessee: passed.

A message from the H. R. announcing its action on sundry bills and resolutions.

Mr. PEYTON, from the committee on the Judiciary, a bill regulating certain duties of Justices of the Peace: requires them to keep dockets of all cases, and of all executions and attachments, in well bound books, with indexes: re-committed to the committee on the Judiciary.

Also, a bill to amend the penal laws: any person usurping any office, or holding over after a court of competent jurisdiction deciding against his right to hold it, to be indicted in the circuit court, and fined not less than $500, nor more than $1,500, and be imprisoned till payment of the fine.

Mr. PEYTON said the subject of the bill was of great importance. It is denied that there is power in the courts, under existing laws, to enforce a decision against a usurper in office. The bill confers this necessary power and gives a remedy for a general evil.

Mr. BUTLER concurred as to the importance of the bill proposed as a general law. He offered no objection to the policy of the bill; but it should not be acted on hastily. He moved that 150 copies of the bill be printed, and that it pass into the orders of the day: agreed to.

Mr. WALKER, from the committee on Propositions and Grievances, a H. R. act allowing an additional justice to Muhlenburg and Union: passed.

Also, a H. R. act to change the name of Clementine Penley to Clementine Waterbury: passed.

Also, a H. R. act to change the name of Betsy Walton to Elizabeth V. Grimes, and legitimize her as the daughter of John H. Grimes: and to change the name of Mary Ann White to Mary Ann Maxey, and allow her to inherit estate from her father, W. P. Maxey: passed.

Also, a bill to change the Russell and Clinton line, so as to include the residences and farms of John Grider and five or six others in the county of Clinton: passed.

Also, a bill to change the Franklin and Anderson line, so as to run due west from the mouth of Boone's branch of Little Benson to Preston Blakemore's: re-committed to the committee on Propositions and Grievances.

Mr. W. P. BOYD, from the committee on Religion, a resolution rejecting the petition of Martin L. Eynon, for a divorce: adopted.

Also, a resolution, rejecting the petition of Frances Dickinson for a divorce: adopted.

Also, a resolution rejecting the petition of Winah C. Barber for a divorce: adopted.

Also, a resolution rejecting the petition of Henry Ezell for a divorce: adopted.

Mr. HELM, from the committee on Finance, a bill for the benefit of Lemuel H. Williams: allows him to serve as Deputy Sheriff of Clinton, although he had served as Commissioner of tax in 1845.

Mr. BUTLER said the general law, making the two offices incompatible, was founded in wisdom and sound policy. He saw no reason to depart from that policy in this instance, and opposed the bill.

And the question being taken on the passage of the bill, it was decided in the affirmative, yeas 17, nays 16, as follows:

YEAS—Messrs. A. Boyd, W. P. Boyd, Bradley, Bramlette, Crenshaw, Draffin, Evans, Hardin, Heady, Helm, Henderson, Holloway, Key, Marshall, Thomas, Thurman, Walker—17.

NAYS—Messrs. Ballard, Butler, Chenault, Conner, Drake, Gray, Harris, Newell, Peyton, Slaughter, South, Swope, Taylor, Todd, Wallace, Woodson—16.

Mr. HELM, from the same committee, a bill for the benefit of Philip Lightfoot, Sheriff of Breckinridge: refunds him $26 interest on judgment against him for failing to pay in his revenue in due time: passed.

Also, a bill for the benefit of William C. Price, Sheriff of Oldham: allows him $20 for his expenses in conveying a Lunatic to the Asylum at Lexington and back: passed.

Mr. THURMAN, from the committee on Education, a bill for the benefit of the School Commissioners of Fayette: allows them to make their report and draw their share of school fund: passed.

Mr. KEY, from the committee on Banks, a bill to continue in force the 20th section of the act to amend the charters of the Banks of Kentucky, approved March 8, 1843, till the first day of March, 1850; the said 20th section grants the banks privilege to issue notes under $5, but not under, $1, till the 1st of January, 1846.

Mr. BALLARD was opposed to the issue of notes under $5. He moved to strike out the provision granting that privilege.

Mr. HELM. That would be equivalent to the rejection of the entire bill. The small bills were at all times convertible into specie and were a great public convenience.

Mr. KEY. The bills being convertible into specie, are a sound, safe, and convenient currency. They were very much appreciated for purposes of small remittances, for newspapers and other objects.

Mr. BALLARD was opposed to the whole bill and hostile to the emission of any bills, under $5. If we stop the circulation of these small bills, specie will fill up the channels of circulation through which they now flow.

The SPEAKER suggested that the question made by the Senator from Oldham, (Mr. BALLARD,) would be virtually decided by the vote on the question on the third reading.

Mr. BALLARD acquiesced in the suggestion.

And the question being taken on the passage of the bill, it was decided in the affirmative, yeas 26, nays 8, as follows:

YEAS—Messrs. Bramlette, Butler, Chenault, Conner, Crenshaw, Draffin, Drake, Evans, Gray, Hardin, Heady, Helm, Henderson, Holloway, Key, Newell, Patterson, Peyton, Slaughter, Swope, Taylor, Thomas, Thurman, Todd, Walker and Woodson—26.

NAYS—Messrs. Ballard, A. Boyd, W. P. Boyd, Bradley, Harris, Marshall, South, and Wallace—8.

So the bill passed.

A message from the Governor, by the Secretary of State.

The Secretary of State also delivered his report in relation to the exchange of bonds.

The rule requiring the Governor's Message to lie on the table one day, was dispensed, the message read, being nominations of Sheriffs, Notaries Public, Commonwealth's Attorney, and referred to the committee on the Judiciary.

The Secretary's report, being a tabular statement of thirty year bonds exchanged for 6 year bonds, was referred to the committee on the Sinking Fund, and ordered to be printed.

ORDERS OF THE DAY.

A Joint Resolution, appointing a committee to visit Transylvania University and the Lunatic Asylum, with a H. R. amendment, including the Deaf and Dumb Asylum: concurred in.

An act allowing the Sheriff of Pulaski further time to collect muster fines, with a H. R. amendment, allowing the Sheriff of Rockcastle further time to collect the county revenue, and return his delinquent list: concurred in.

An engrossed bill to change the time of the meeting of the General Assembly to the first Monday in December in each year hereafter.

And the question being taken on the passage of the bill, it was decided in the affirmative, yeas 19, nays 16, as follows:

YEAS—Messrs. Ballard, W. P. Boyd, Conner, Crenshaw, Draffin, Dyer, Gray, Hardin, Harris, Helm, Henderson, Newell, Patterson, Peyton, South, Swope, Taylor, Thomas and Todd—19.

NAYS—Messrs. A. Boyd, Bradley, Bramlette, Butler, Chenault, Drake, Evans, Heady, Holloway, Key, Marshall, Slaughter, Thurman, Walker, Wallace and Woodson—16.

So the bill passed.

Sundry acts from the H. R. were read a second time and appropriately referred.

An engrossed resolution, requiring nominations of certain officers to be referred to the committee on Executive Affairs, &c.

Mr. HARRIS moved that the resolution lie on the table for the present: agreed to.

A joint resolution that the General Assembly adjourn sine die on the 10th February next.

Mr. WOODSON moved an amendment, as a substitute, that the General Assembly will adjourn on the earliest day after getting through the public business.

Mr. PATTERSON was opposed to the amendment and in favor of the original resolution. Last year we got through the business and adjourned on the 10th of February; and no act of the Legislature was so universally approved by the people as that of fixing an early day of adjournment. The advantage of fixing a day for final adjournment is, that we have a day to work up to, and can carry out the public business; whereas, if the day be not fixed, we postpone business, debate and discuss too much. My experience in legislation convinces me that we can dispatch the public business in a session of forty days. The Legislature of '44-5 had received from the people the gratifying appellation of "the working Legislature."

Mr. HARRIS. I never have voted for fixing the day of adjournment so early in the session. I am decidedly in favor of the amendment offered by the Senator from Jessamine [Mr. Woodson.] It is very true the people were gratified because the last session terminated so early as the 10th of February, and that they approve short sessions. But times and business were subject to great variations. There is far more important business to be transacted this session than there was the last session. Among the rest, there was a proposition to create a new county out of Caldwell. If we adjourn on the 10th of February, I am fearful (playfully) we shall not be able to pass that important measure. I am not pledged to vote for that measure; nor am I in favor of the principle of ripping up old counties. My section has been ruined already by that practice; but I wish to enjoy the sport and fun of seeing the Senator from Caldwell (Mr. Patterson) struggling to preserve his county from mutilation. I shall go for the amendment, to enable us to take a hand in dividing Caldwell.

Mr. WOODSON was not opposed to adjourning on the 10th or even on the 1st of February; but he could not now determine that we should be able to get through by the 10th. It may be, possibly, we can finish our business and adjourn on the 1st. When we can see through, we can then intelligently designate a day of final adjournment.

Mr. PATTERSON was indebted to the Senator from Floyd, (Mr. Harris,) for the special consideration which he proposed to bestow on the proposition to erect a new county out of Caldwell. If my recollection, however, be worth any thing, we settled that question very satisfactorily last session, and adjourned on the 10th of February, nevertheless, as the Senator must also remember. If any merriment be exhibited in the consideration of that new county question, no doubt it will proceed from the Senator; it could only originate with him. But when the question comes up and there shall be deemed not enough time before the 10th February, for the display of that Senator's humor, I will move to rescind the adjourning resolution to give him more time for that purpose. I wish, myself, to witness the display of his merriment and talents.

Mr. HARRIS, speaking across—On your side? (Laugh.)

Mr. PEYTON. On my side. (Laugh.)

Mr. BUTLER adhered to the ground of the original resolution. I presume not a single Senator will say he would not adjourn when the public business shall have been completed. But the difficulty is to know when that is done. This is the real difficulty. If we sit here from January to January, we shall be no nearer through than we shall be on the day proposed. The appetite for legislation grows by what it feeds upon. The greatest curse of this country is redundant legislation. The general laws have not time to be understood by the country before they are repealed or substituted by new ones. This may be beneficial to the legal profession, but it is injurious to the body of the people. Permanent laws, of less wisdom, are better than wiser laws perpetually changing. It is true the objections to fixing the day of adjournment now seem plausible. But I can hardly anticipate any difficulty growing out of it, which the wisdom of the Legislature may not solve. If such great questions arise, as may require longer time for their consideration than are now anticipated, we can rescind and fix another day. It would be wisdom not to adjourn pending such great questions. The advantages from adopting the resolution, have been well stated by the Senator from Caldwell. When we know the space of time in which we have to legislate, we labor with more energy and despatch; our industry is stimulated; and we dispute and debate less. There are many other reasons obvious, to the Senate, in favor of the resolution.

Mr. TAYLOR moved the previous question.

Mr. WALKER moved that the resolution lie on the table for the present; and the question being taken, it was decided in the negative, yeas 7, nays 27, as follows:

YEAS—Messrs. Ballard, Drake, Dyer, Key, Newell, Slaughter, Walker—7.

NAYS—Messrs. Alfred Boyd, Wilson P. Boyd, Bradley, Bramlette, Butler, Chenault, Conner, Crenshaw, Draffin, Evans, Gray, Hardin, Harris, Heady, Henderson, Holloway, Marshall, Patterson, Peyton, South, Swope, Taylor, Thomas, Thurman, Todd, Wallace and Woodson—27.

And the question recurring, Shall the main question be now put? it was taken and decided in the affirmative, yeas 19, nays 16, as follows:

YEAS—Messrs. A. Boyd, Bradley, Bramlette, Butler, Chenault, Conner, Crenshaw, Evans, Gray, Hardin, Heady, Helm, Henderson, Holloway, Patterson, Taylor, Thurman, Todd and Walker—19.

NAYS—Messrs. Ballard, Wilson P. Boyd, Draffin, Drake, Dyer, Harris, Key, Marshall, Newell, Peyton, Slaughter, South, Swope, Thomas, Wallace and Woodson—16.

The amendment being thus cut off, the question was taken on the passage of the original resolution, and decided in the affirmative, yeas 25, nays 10, as follows:

YEAS—Messrs. Alfred Boyd, Wilson P. Boyd, Bradley, Bramlette, Butler, Chenault, Conner, Crenshaw, Draffin, Evans, Gray, Hardin, Harris, Heady, Helm, Henderson, Holloway, Marshall, Patterson, Peyton, South, Taylor, Thurman, Todd and Walker—25.

NAYS—Messrs. Ballard, Drake, Dyer, Key, Newell, Slaughter, Swope, Thomas, Wallace and Woodson—10.

So the Senate decided to adjourn sine die on the 10th of February.

And then the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 8, 1846.

Prayer, and the Journal being read, Mr. Wm. THOMAS, the member returned to serve in this House from Ballard and McCracken, appeared, received the oath of the Constitution, and took his seat.

Mr. DALLAM, from the Enrollments committee, reported sundry bills for the signature of the Speaker.

Petitions and memorials were now presented by Messrs. MILLER, REID, PETERS, DESHA, J. S. SMITH, and appropriately referred.

On motion of Mr. E. SMITH, the further morning business was dispensed with, and a call of the counties ordered.

Mr. HARLAN arose and desired to call attention to the little matter of the character of a privileged question. Since the commencement of the present session he had observed an innovation upon the ancient usages and practices of the House. Anciently, and from the year 1792 down to the present, it had been the practice of this House to receive messages only from two departments of the Government—from the head of the Executive department, and from the co-ordinate branch of the Legislative department. He found no precedent for receiving messages from any other; and he desired that the observance of these old forms should be resumed and kept up. He had never the honor of a seat on this floor before, and he might never be called to the place again; but so long as he might remain a member, he desired to adhere to the old forms and customs. Some gentlemen might think very little of a matter of mere form. But he thought with the gentleman from Madison, [Mr. J. S. SMITH,] when he stood up the other day for the ancient usage at the moment of adjournment, that there was a good deal in form.

Sir, till the year 1837, (the Speaker would recollect,) even the Representatives in the Congress of this Union sat in their chamber with their hats on. And when, in the session of that year, the Speaker made a motion that members of Congress should sit with their hats off, it became a subject of curious inquiry, why the Representatives should sit covered, while the Senators sat uncovered. It was found out, at last, that the custom had originated in the British House of Commons, who acted upon the idea that the Representatives of the people take hats off to nobody. But that was a mere matter of form. We receive communications from the Executive in the shape of written messages; we receive petitions, &c., at the hands of our own members; and we receive messages from the co-ordinate branch of the Legislature—we receive messages from no other source. Such, he said, had been the practice since 1792; and, for one, Mr. H. was still adhering to that ancient practice. His remarks did not proceed from evil feeling toward any functionary in the State; but merely from his unwillingness to suffer an infringement upon established usage. He was on terms with every officer of the Executive, the House, and the co-ordinate branch. But, said Mr. H., we don't receive communications by way of message from under officers of the Executive—we, however, admit the right both on the part of the Executive and the Senate to select such organ as they think proper for the transmission of their communications. Mr. H. asked, therefore, and would make a motion to that effect, that the Speaker forthwith direct the officers of this House to conform to the ancient usages in this particular.

The motion was then carried, and the direction given to the Door-keeper and Sergeant-at-Arms accordingly.

might owe his seat in the Legislature to the influence of the whiskey barrel. He suspected no man. But if, indeed, any gentleman has procured his seat by such means, he hoped and believed there was a redeeming spirit abroad among the people, that would not permit him to appear in these halls again; and if he should appear, Mr. R. said, he would not desire to see him. Such men were but a disgrace to the Commonwealth, and a blemish upon her bright escutcheon.

Mr. HARLAN. It seems to him that some gentlemen apprehended, that all the friends of the amendment were opposed to the original resolutions. The gentleman who has just taken his seat had opposed the amendment; and, as he took his seat he said he did not desire to see that member's face again, who might owe his election to the whiskey barrel. But still, the gentleman did not want to know who these members were, if indeed there were any such. He did not want to inquire whether A. B. or C. had obtained his election by bribery. Mr. H. said he knew that nothing of that kind was ever done in Campbell; but they say down there, that for any given occasion at the polls, they can import a steamboat load of Dutchmen and carry any measure the Democracy may want to carry.

Mr. H. said he had but little experience in legislation; but he knew enough to satisfy his mind of this, that, in many cases, where a member of the Legislature wishes to look into the conduct of some individual officer, and has not courage enough to come out frankly with his charge he commonly covers up his purpose under a general resolution, creating a committee to inquire into the conduct of all that class of officers to which he belongs, with power to send for persons and papers. And such propositions were readily passed. For one gentleman rises up and says, there is no wrong in my district—they are all pure there. And so all over the House, increasing existing suspicions, and with them the necessity for investigation—and all because some one or two Judges, it may be, are either sadly corrupt or supposed to be corrupt. But why not come out boldly and honestly with names and specifications? It was perhaps due to the Commonwealth that some investigations be had; but let them come up in some tangible shape.

The gentleman from Campbell, [Mr. Root.] was mistaken in his idea that no Magistrate could be removed. We frequently catch them up here and take away their commissions. He mentioned the case of such a removal some years ago, in which one of the charges against him was playing cards in a barn, or rather he only sat by and looked on while his partner played; and as the player won, the Magistrate would enter up his judgment and cause the losing party to be sued, &c. It was also within the knowledge of Mr. H., that a clerk was removed from office by the Court below stairs, only a few weeks ago.

The gentleman from Madison [Mr. J. S. Smith.] says it would not do to pass by investigation; it was expedient to investigate, so as to relieve the innocent from suspicion. But Mr. Smith affirmed that no man went further than himself for practical investigations of conduct, from the highest to the lowest; but he was really unwilling to go into the matter by way of making it a general surety warrant business. But let gentlemen specify their cases of suspicion: let them tell us in what particular district they suspect improper conduct in the Judge, the Sheriff, the Magistrate—and he could not see why we should not include the Constable; for he verily thought of all orders of men, take them as a whole, the Constables were the greatest curse to the Commonwealth. The gentleman from Campbell objected to the amendment because it proposed to inquire into the conduct of those who held office for a limited term. But sir, we ask also to look into the conduct of the District Attorneys; and why not look into the manner in which gentlemen obtain their seats here: for if common fame be true, many of our election districts are sometimes carried by bribery, fraud, and all sorts of rascality, &c. If we would go in search of the muddy waters, when we shall have hunted them out, the foulest and most offensive dregs will be found in the political tub at last. And besides, such an inquiry would be the least expensive; as, for example, when the committee shall sit, and gentlemen suspect anything wrong about the elections in Campbell, the representative from that county would be at hand, a good and intelligent witness in the case, and no expense in sending after him. Let us purge the elective franchise, said Mr. H., and if there be corruption in it, let the good people of this good old Commonwealth know it: for it was a subject in which all our fellow-citizens felt the deepest interest, &c. He had friends, if he had not relatives, in nearly all the offices proposed to be inquired into, and on their account he invited investigation. He only desired some tangible, practical basis on which the committee might act intelligently.

Mr. WALLER said that he was in earnest in supporting the original resolutions of inquiry, and for that reason should oppose the amendment. The original resolutions were objected to by the gentleman now advocating the amendment, on the ground that the inquiry proposed was too broad, and would require too much time. Now they urge that it is too narrow, and propose to extend the inquiry so as to embrace the executive offices and the members of this House. He could not believe the gentlemen sincere; their object must be to defeat the resolution and stifle investigation. If they were sincere, he was ready to aid them in their efforts. Let the resolutions pass as they are, and the committee will not be overburdened. The gentleman can bring forward their proposition in a separate form, and have it referred to a separate committee. Both investigations could then progress at the same time. Do this, and he said he stood prepared to go as far as any member on this floor, in aiding them to accomplish their object. Sir, this is no party movement, nor should it be made so. It is an inquiry into the conduct of officers of the government, upon the suggestion that corrupt practices exist. The country demands the investigation. Is either party prepared to take the responsibility of opposing it? Sir, said he, I regret the remarks of my friend from Franklin, (Mr. HARLAN) they were, in his opinion, ill timed and out of place. No doubt corrupt practices at elections obtain occasionally in both parties, and in all counties. Let us be candid, and take an unprejudiced view of things as they are. It is useless to exaggerate or cast reflections upon particular counties. If the gentleman really wishes to purify the ballot-box, let him take a separate action at the proper time, and he pledged him his support.

Mr. ROOT said he did not intend to say anything further as to the merits of the bill. His only object was to reply to the gentleman from Franklin. He was not aware of any importation of German votes—had never heard of the landing of steamboats in Campbell laden with German voters. The statement was unjust, and the gentleman from Franklin had not even the authority of the vilest and most polluted partisan sheet in this Commonwealth for his authority; he was, therefore, amazed that a gentleman of so high and dignified standing should see fit to make such a charge upon this floor. He was sure that it emanated from the overflowings of an inventive imagination. The eagle eyes of the Whig Judges would certainly have detected the fraud, if it had ever existed. This charge was for the first time made by the honorable gentleman himself, and it will greatly enlighten the most sagacious of his party in Campbell.

Mr. HARLAN said, of course, he had no personal knowledge of the fact, whether voters were imported into Campbell from Ohio, or not. He only spoke from rumor: and as the gentleman from Campbell had said there was no foundation for it, he had nothing more to say. But Mr. H. recollected, that during last summer, that, in conversing with a gentleman from that part of the 10th Congressional District, which the gentleman (Mr. Root) represented, the statement was made to him, that the election was supposed to depend very much upon the number of votes that might be brought over from Cincinnati; and it was further stated, a certain distinguished gentleman residing in the county of Campbell was then out and active in making arrangements for—

The SPEAKER. As the remarks of the gentleman were not upon the question, it was presumed that enough had been said, and that the discussion ought to terminate.

Mr. HARDY proposed to strike from the amendment so much of the inquiry as relates to the election of Senators: which was adopted.

And then the amendment was rejected; and the original resolutions passed—ayes 89; nays 1.

THE COMMONWEALTH, FRANKFORT, KY.

THO. B. STEVENSON, Editor.
FRIDAY, JANUARY 9, 1846.

CONGRESS.—January 2.—The Senate did not sit: In the House, Mr. Cunningham, of Ohio, offered a series of resolutions in relation to Oregon, declaring that the rejection by Great Britain of the offer of the 49th parallel by the U. S. Government, was putting negotiation on the subject at an end—that the country of Oregon is rightly ours—that Great Britain's claim is outrageous—and that Congress ought forthwith to pass resolves for maintaining our rights.

A motion to suspend the rules, to allow the said resolution to be taken up and considered, was made, and the yeas and nays called—lost; yeas 73, nays 89.

Mr. Garrett Davis, of Ky., moved that the committee of the Whole be discharged from the consideration of the resolution heretofore offered by Mr. Douglass, of Ill., in relation to Oregon, and which had been referred to said committee, and made the order of the day for Tuesday next; and that said resolution of Mr. Douglass be referred to sundry standing committees.

The question was taken on Mr. Davis' motion and lost. Mr. Douglass' resolutions were set for consideration on the 13th. Mr. Harlan, from the committee on Military Affairs, reported a bill to raise two regiments of riflemen, and for other purposes, explaining that the object was to operate in part with the bill reported from the committee on Territories, for the occupation of Oregon. He moved that the bill be considered on the 6th. A very interesting and exciting debate arose, in which Messrs. Harlan, Houston, Holmes of S. C., Douglass and J. Q. Adams took part. Mr. Douglass gave certain peculiar friends of Texas some severe hits for their lukewarmness on the Oregon question. Every thing was made to jump on the Texas question, but now every thing was thrown in the way of securing Oregon. He poured some shots into the committee on Foreign Relations for their tardiness, and he made some stinging allusions to the deliberation now manifested by some in this case, who saw England as the foe; but who had been extremely rampant for Texas, when Mexico only opposed. Mr. Holmes, of S. C., in reply, declared he did feel the deepest concern at the prospect of war with Great Britain, which would inevitably come, if the bill reported by the committee on Territories, passed. He deprecated haste and precipitancy in this great matter. The horror and cost of a war with England was incalculable. When war should come, however, if come it must, he notified his warlike friend from Illinois, (Mr. Douglass), that he would be as bold and zealous as any one in standing up for his country.

Mr. Adams next rose, when instantly the whole House was in commotion, pressing round to catch every syllable. We have not room for his remarks at length, but condense his principal points. He was for giving instant notice to Great Britain to terminate the joint occupancy—he would do it that very day if he could—every thing depended on this—he would vote for nothing relative to Oregon, no occupation, no protection to settlers, no forts, stockades, block-houses, regiments of riflemen, miners, sappers, pontoniers—nothing of the sort—till we had first given the notice. Then we could do all with clear consciences. He was for sacredly adhering to treaties while in force, but for the instant termination of the Oregon joint occupancy. He believed there would be no war. Even occupation, after notice, would not lead necessarily to war. They could take possession and then negotiate. That, at least, was in accordance with military usage. He had heard the rumor that the committee on Foreign Relations hesitated about giving notice. He deeply regretted to hear this, and hoped they would report in favor of it. After giving the notice, however unwilling he ever had been to increasing our military force, he thought he could get over his objections, and especially if Great Britain manifested any offence on receiving the notice. If war should come, which, however, he did not apprehend, the whole country would unanimously stand by the claims of the United States to the whole of Oregon.

The Louisville Democrat has a long, abusive article about the Commonwealth and the public printing, and a number of short ones. The substance of the whole is concentrated in the following:

"The editor of the Commonwealth lauded the Whig party that gave Gales & Seaton $40,000 to make up for their losses on the public printing.—The editor of the same paper now says that the Congressional printer gets too much."

If the Democrat means to say that we lauded the Whig party because it gave Gales & Seaton $40,000, it states an untruth. The other statement is an untruth absolutely, without an if.

A gentleman in London who had missed bottles of wine from his cellar, finding that an aperture had been made in the wall sufficiently large to admit an arm and hand, placed a rat trap close to the hole, and next morning he found some human skin and a portion of the nail of a finger. His wine has not been touched since.

GOOD BREEDING.—The following hints offered by a critic, who has been a close observer of men and manners. He thinks it an important subject, and asks the attention of all the careless to this list of transgressions:

"Loud and harsh speaking, making noises in eating or drinking, leaving awkwardly while sitting, rattling knives and forks when at table, starting up suddenly and rushing unceremoniously out of a room, tossing any thing away with indifference or contempt, receiving anything without thanking the giver, standing in the way of any one when there is little room to pass, (a grievous practice in a city) stepping before one who is looking at any object particularly, pushing or jostling any one without apologizing, taking possession of a seat that belongs to another, intruding opinions when they are not sought or where they give offence, leaving acquaintances in the street or in a private circle without bidding them good bye or courteously saluting them, slapping any one familiarly on the shoulder, interrupting a person who is in conversation, telling long, tedious, or humdrum stories, whispering in company, making remarks on the dress of those about you, or upon things in the room where you are, daily contradicting the person, using slang phrases, (a very common habit,) interlarding our speech with foreign phrases, (well hit off in the new comedy of Fashion,) repeating the words, says he and says she, you know, and you understand, helping yourself first at the table, using a fork as a toothpick, putting the fingers in the ears, cleaning or paring the nails before company, mentioning the price of anything when it is offered to a guest, asking questions which give pain, and neglecting to answer letters."

THE OREGON QUESTION.—The Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Patriot writes under date of the 28th ult:

A distinguished Senator had a free and open conversation with Mr. Pakenham last Thursday evening, on which occasion the British minister very decidedly and candidly expressed his belief that there was no probability of a war on the Oregon question. War was only a remote possibility, taking into view his own country's resolute disposition to settle the question as to give mutual satisfaction and avoid a conflict.
